Origins and Historical Background

The Birth of Harewood House

Harewood House's story begins in the early 18th century, rooted in the estate of the Lascelles family, who have owned the property since the 17th century. The current structure was conceived as a grand country mansion to reflect the family's status and aspirations. Construction commenced in 1759, under the guidance of architect John Carr, with the design heavily influenced by Palladian principles—an architectural style emphasizing symmetry, classical forms, and proportion.

Architectural Evolution

While Carr laid the foundation, subsequent modifications over the centuries have enriched Harewood's architectural profile. Notably, Sir Charles Barry, the architect behind the Houses of Parliament, contributed to renovations in the 19th century, adding Gothic Revival elements that complement the original Palladian design.
