Unlike traditional scholars who approached philosophy as abstract systems of ideas, Hadot argued that ancient philosophy was fundamentally a spiritual and practical discipline.

Hadot's Central Thesis

Hadot's core assertion was that ancient philosophy was not merely theoretical speculation, but a form of spiritual exercise aimed at transforming the individual's way of life. He popularized the idea that:

> "Philosophy was practiced as a way of life."

This perspective emphasizes that for ancient philosophers, learning was inseparable from practicing, often involving disciplines like meditation, self-examination, and ethical discipline.

Key Contributions
