Van Doren's death occurs under suspicious circumstances?found dead in his meticulously curated art gallery, with no apparent signs of forced entry or struggle.

The initial suspicion falls on natural causes, but Wolfe?s client, Van Doren?s niece, Eleanor, suspects foul play. She enlists Wolfe?s help, hinting at a recent dispute her uncle had with a rival collector, a mysterious dealer named Marcus Trenholm, over a valuable, supposedly missing Picasso.

The case?s core revolves around Van Doren?s collection, the circumstances surrounding his death, and the secrets hidden within the art world. As Wolfe and his assistant, Archie Goodwin, delve into the case, they uncover layers of deception, greed, and betrayal.

The Setting and Atmosphere

The narrative is set predominantly within the confines of Wolfe?s brownstone on 35th Street and the art collector?s lavish Manhattan gallery. Rex Stout?s descriptive prowess paints a vivid picture of the scene?luxurious, yet tense, reflecting the underlying peril of the art world?s darker side.

The gallery, with its walls lined with priceless works, serves as a symbolic battleground where appearances conceal truths. The atmosphere is charged with suspicion, as every piece of art seems to whisper secrets, and every individual involved carries motives.

The setting emphasizes the thematic contrast between the superficial glamour of the art world and the underlying criminality, deception, and human folly. Wolfe?s keen eye for detail captures this duality, setting the tone for the unraveling of the mystery.
